Who we are

The CHG membership comprises atheists, agnostics, sceptics, secularists, rationalists...

What unifies us is the conviction that the One Life We Have is best lived rationally and joyfully without recourse to a supernatural authority, and is all the more fulfilling and authentic for it.

We welcome inquisitive thinkers of all backgrounds and hope you will find the CHG a welcoming and stimulating group.

What we do

- We provide a social forum for like-minded people to meet, debate and enjoy each other's company.
- We engage in a number of outreach activities to raise awareness of Humanism and influence public debate on issues of social cohesion.
- We provide trained speakers to primary and secondary schools within Cambridgeshire and beyond.
- We are represented on our local Standing Advisory Council on Religious Education (SACRE), which is the body responsible for advising the Local Education Authority on Religious Education.
- We contribute events to the annual Festival of Ideas and Science Festivals hosted by Cambridge University.

Benefits of Membership
